From the President’s Desk

We survived the Mayan calendar cliff as well as the Fiscal Cliff and soon we will know the fate of the Postal deficit cliff. According to all reports, the Postal Service delivered record volumes during first quarter holiday season, and after reporting that news, the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) announced its proposal for gradually moving to 5-day delivery beginning in 2013. It also proposed to keep Post Offices open on Saturdays, deliver Express Mail 7 days a week, deliver post office box mail on Saturday, and the Postal Service would continue to make Saturday deliveries during weeks leading up to the winter holidays. This proposal may have a great deal of bearing on the contract that is soon to be awarded as well as the legislation that is necessary to keep the USPS on sound financial footing. We will have to pay attention to the changes that will occur with the 113th Congress; they certainly should be an improvement over the last Congress with their 18% approval rating at the end of their term. Even though they passed legislation to avoid the fiscal cliff, the House majority leader postponed legislation to give relief to the Northeast regarding damages from Superstorm Sandy; nothing like having your priorities in order while people are suffering. The 112th Congress will end its term with a history of doing just that. The Postal Service will now rely on the 113th Congress to forge the legislation that will determine what kind of future this historical institution will have remaining. Adapting to the technology has never been an issue with the USPS until congress strapped it with debt that was conjured up by the Government Accounting Office (GAO) when it formulated a plan to determine future retiree health care benefits to be paid in 10 years at $5.5 Billion per year. There has never been a determination of how to figure for 75 years’ future benefits would actually cost on an actuarial basis. This plan from the GAO presented at the request of Darrel Issa, the Congressman whom it was addressed to and happens to be the Chairman of the Government Oversight Committee also the Sponsor of the bill last year to dismantle the US Postal Service.

Executive Board

Shop Stewards will Meet
Tuesday 7 PM
February 5
March 5
The 113th Congress has already vowed that they will act on the Postal reform with Senator Carper and Congressman Issa stating that “our commitment to restoring this American institution to long term solvency is unwavering”. Time will tell if they can keep their vow and do it without continuing to slowly dismantle the USPS network. There is no doubt that we have a very serious and hard battle to fight for the stability and future of the Postal Service as well as our working conditions and our benefits; nothing can be taken for granted.

Serving Our Community
There was some negative news coverage regarding the Toys for Tots drive this year and out of that something has already been approved for the G10 permit for the NALC Food Drive scheduled for May 11 this year. This allows the information to let the community know when we will collect food for the local food banks as well as taking care of the delivery of the bags donated for collection. There is no doubt that the Toys for Tots would have been more successful if we could have had an avenue to notify the public when we were collecting the toys. When this kind of action takes place people will rise to the occasion to see that there will be greater preparation in the future.

I would also like to thank everyone who has been involved in our activities for the Muscular Dystrophy Association. Whether you were active in the Satchel drive or participated in the Brandon Bowl-A-Thon... thanks for your support! Terry Franklin did a great job and almost everyone that was there won a door prize as well enjoying a good time for a great cause. Sam Santilli, our MDA coordinator, has also been successful in raising $1,000 for contribution to MDA through carrier calendar sales. Great job, Sam! He is also planning our next Bowl-A-Thon for February 17 at Pin Chasers on Armenia Avenue. If you don’t see a signup sheet or hear the announcement, call the Branch office for information and come help Make a Muscle for MDA!

Get Involved with Branch 599!
We have dealt with many issues during the holiday season and continue to deal with issues that are isolated to some offices are not as bad at other offices. We are experiencing some shortages in Stewards as well and we are looking into resolving that as soon as possible. Something that has been done in the past and has been discussed by the executive board could lead to appointment of outside stewards to assist in the backlog that is taking place in some offices. When we don’t have stewards at each office that are entitled to do their union duties on the clock, the burden of paying outside stewards falls on the Branch. Outside Stewards also have to be certified through the National Business Agent, who notifies the Area office of these appointments. If that is what is necessary to get management to comply with the Contract, then that is what we will do. Just a reminder to all members, the word Union begins with the letter YOU; if you want more done, then everyone needs to do their share. It is easy to sit back and let someone do all the work for you; tough times call for tough decisions, let’s start by deciding to work together for the benefit of all.

Locally
As of December 29, 2012, we have zero part time flexible carriers in Tampa, which means we have a 100% fulltime career workforce in Tampa. Currently there are about 60 transitional employees that are filling our vacant positions, however, they don’t count against the complement. We have filed grievances regarding the complement issues, especially as to how management is unilaterally interpreting language that favors them, while purposely creating staffing shortages. Very little is being accomplished from the Labor/Management meetings and even when we have had agreements they still required grievances to have a final decision. Everything that is happening today is a complete contradiction of the purpose of our dispute resolution process. We rarely ever settle disputes at the lowest level and this purposely frustrates the grievance procedure and can lead to unfair labor violations. The problem with today’s climate is the Postal Service plays the delay game due to its financial condition and that only escalates that problem to a more costly degree.

Fraternally in Unionism and Solidarity,

Alan Peacock
President, NALC Branch 599
Brothers and Sisters, 2013 has begun and we are busy dealing with a number of issues. Hopefully at press time of this article, we will have heard some good news on our NALC contract negotiations, which is in the hands of an arbitrator.

Good news on the local front! It is with pride that Branch 599 can announce the successful conversion of all PTF carriers to full-time regular status. This has been a long on-going battle, through grievances and persistence; we have succeeded in the conversion process. In addition, we have filed a Class Action citywide grievance on behalf of 5 PTF carriers that were converted to regular, however were shorted 3 paid holidays. We presented a very good case and are hopeful to get these 5 PTFs paid for those 3 holidays and have their seniority date reflect their original conversion date. Another Class Action citywide grievance has been filed in an attempt to increase the leave complement in all stations and branches. We are committed to reviewing all stations and their complement percentages. Several Stations have benefited from carriers retiring that were on long term sick leave and counting against their complement. We will continue to challenge the leave complement process, percentages, and the ambiguous language.

EAP
The Employee Assistance Program is a program designed to assist postal employees in many fields, from personal and family related problems, to drug addiction, to workroom stress. EAP gives you the opportunity to reach out and get help from trained professionals. One of our local EAP coordinators, Eric Siegal, is very good at what he does. We have had Eric speak at several different Stations to address different issues. One visit, at Sulphur Springs, addressed carriers fears related to several carrier robberies. In another visit, Eric spoke to the carriers about the sudden death of a popular veteran letter carrier at Town ‘N Country Station. Both Stations were very pleased with the talks Eric presented with time allowed for questions.

This EAP program is excellent! I have heard Eric speak at many Safety and Health meetings and he is very knowledgeable. This is a service for every employee and his/her family. In the December 2012 Postal Record, the Director of Safety and Health, Manual Peralta, wrote an article on EAP and how valuable the program is. EAP is also part of our National Agreement; Article 35 explains how the program was established, the confidentiality, and several other important topics. The confidentially is very important; many employees do not wish to share their issues with anyone, and you are protected.

From Article 35: Confidentiality. Confidentiality is the cornerstone of EAP counseling. EAP counselors are bound by very strict codes of ethics, as well as federal and state laws, requiring that information learned from counseled employees remains private. EAP counselors have licenses and master’s degrees in their fields of expertise. Management officials and union officials have no right to breach the confidentiality of EAP counseling sessions. What an EAP counselor learns in confidential counseling or other treatment of an employee may be released only with the employee’s completely voluntary, written consent, except in the limited circumstances provided for in ELM 874.4.

Referral. EAP Counselor services are available through voluntary self-referrals, to letter carriers and their family members. A management official may also refer an employee to EAP, however, participation is entirely voluntary. Currently, the national contact number for such self-referrals is 1-800-EAP4YOU, or 1-800-327-4968. Additional information is also available at the website www.eap4you.com.

Quick Hits:
Information you should know
*) Condolences to the family of deceased brother, Al Doyle. Al was a retiree and worked for many years at Seminole Heights Station 33603, now Sulphur Springs. He was also retired from the military and was a decorated veteran. Al served with Special Forces and was very proud to have served his country. He was a tough man, however, for as tough a man as he was, he was equally the nicest man you could ever meet. I served as his T-6 for several years and considered AL a good friend. Al was always very supportive of my union activities and I was appreciative for that. God Bless, Al Doyle, you will be missed.

Look forward to talking to you again on the next Around The Horn

As we begin a new year with many new stewards I feel that a reprint of this article is not only important but also timely to assist stewards both old and new in addressing concerns for those they represent.

This month we are going to move into Mistakes to Avoid as a Shop Steward. As we discussed previously, no one comes in as the best Shop Steward in the world. Since we all have limited backgrounds when we start as a new Steward it is important that we attempt to avoid some of the pitfalls of representation that are out there.

Since we all make mistakes, this guide should help you from making some of the more common ones involved in being a Steward.

1. It is a mistake to Represent Unfairly or Unequally: This goes back to the old Union adage of “An injury to one is an injury to all”. If you fail to represent all members equally it will undermine your credibility as a Steward as well as opening up the Union and yourself to potential legal action for violation of the Duty for Fair Representation. The Labor Board will not be your friend should there be a case in this area against you.

2. It is a mistake to Make Backroom Deals: This is commonly called Horse Trading and should never happen. Management will approach you with offers to settle one grievance if you are willing to drop another. This is a trap and you should run from the offer. Remember each grievance should be represented on its own merit. Don’t settle any grievance for an offer that you would be uncomfortable telling the entire membership about.

3. It is a mistake to Promise Remedies Too Quickly: Several things come to light here, the first of which is that there are no sure things in the grievance process. When a grievance is filed you might think it is a slam dunk but you won’t know until the investigation is complete. Ensure that you do a full and complete investigation and present the best case you can. Remember if you can’t settle the grievance it will be someone else making the decision and there is no way to predict what someone else will decide.

4. It is a mistake to Fail to Speak with New Workers: The easiest way to make a bad impression on new workers is to ignore them. You want to go to the new worker and introduce yourself as soon as possible. Establish that personal contact, provide them the information they will need and try to involve them in the activities of the Union right away. New workers are more likely to come to you for help if they see that you are just like them and they know you are approachable.

5. It is a mistake to Fail to Adhere to Timelines: The timelines detailed in the National Agreement are there for a reason, follow them to the letter. Even the strongest case will be lost if you fail to adhere to the timelines for the process. If you need an extension don’t be afraid to ask for one, but always get it in writing. Remember, the timelines are there so the issue is addressed while it is fresh, don’t let issues fester under multiple extensions...keep the grievance moving.

6. It is a mistake to Let Grievances go Unfiled: If you are aware of a contractual violation it is the duty of the Steward to file a grievance to correct the violation. Remember your job is Contract Enforcement and failure to address violations of the contract means that you are willing to give up the things our membership bargained hard to get and retain. The Steward needs to be able to see how a relatively minor issue can affect the membership and the Union as a whole, and act to prevent it by addressing the issue head-on.

7. It is a mistake to Meet with Management Alone: This can raise suspicions as to whether you are doing backdoor dealings and the like. The grievant should always be at the Informal A hearing on their grievances so they can have an input into the proceedings. This also prevents Management from making up stories that there are no witnesses to discount. Also allowing others in the process helps them to see how the Union works and encourages them to take a more proactive role with the Union as a whole.

8. It is a mistake to Fail to Get Settlements in Writing: I’m sure that everyone has heard this before but “If you have a Settlement only verbally, you have no Settlement at all”. Documentation is a requirement in all grievances and settlements. At Arbitration, if all you have is the verbal settlement and Management gets on the stand and denies it, you will lose your case. Also, ensure that all settlements have the supervisor’s name and the date of settlement clearly shown on the document.

9. It is a mistake to Fail to Publicize Victories: This will help you in dealing with the membership as the publication of a victory has a twofold effect. First it will help to educate the membership on their rights and secondly it will increase their confidence in you and you will gain from each victory.
Unionism—Mistakes to Avoid

10. It is a mistake to Fail to Organize: Remember that as was stated last month, the Steward is the Union to most of the membership. You should be using this exposure to help motivate the membership and organize them to assist the many areas of the local Union that need assistance. The Union is an organization made up of many small parts and the Steward has access to the small parts, so try to pull them together to make the whole stronger.

This article is only a guide for Stewards and members to understand some of the mistakes that are common among union representatives. It is this writer’s hope that this information will help you prevent some of these from occurring in your daily work as a Steward, thus making your job less problematic.

Once again the information used to write this article comes from The Union Steward’s Guide 2nd Edition edited by David Prosten. This text is highly recommended for all Stewards, Officers and Union members and is thought of highly enough that it is provided to all members of the Leadership Academy run by the NALC at National Headquarters in Washington, D.C.

Until next month I leave you as always – Knowledge is the Key.

Brian Obst
Tampa Stations/Branches Chief Steward
We certainly have come a long way financially since I first started my postal career back on May 28, 1960. My starting rate was $1.86 an hour. Today it’s $18.85. My gross pay for the 2-week pay period was $148.80; that was before taxes, retirement and health benefits were taken out. Today it’s $1,508. The top pay scale back then was $6,600 and it took 23 years to get to the top. Today it’s $50,793 and it takes only 12.3 years to get there. Fortunately, back then the cost of living was commensurate with our salary: it cost 4¢ to mail a letter; 31¢ for a gallon of gas; 25¢ for a pack of cigarettes; and a 6-pack of Budweiser cost 98¢.

When I said we came a long way financially since 1960, we certainly have! Primarily because of the leadership we have at the local, state, and national levels in our great Union; from the Shop Stewards, and each and every officer, to include the National President, they have dedicated themselves to better your working conditions and for all of us to live a comfortable life, financially. For which I thank you and applaud you all.

I am very proud to be a 50-year member of the National Association of Letter Carriers. And what made it even more special to me was: my 50-Year Gold Card was presented to me by our National President, Fred Rolando.

Thank you, Fred. Thank you all. God Bless.
